Subject: On-line microbial monitoring

Good day Cheyenne,

Thank you for returning my call this morning.

As discussed, please find attached more information on our on-line microbial analyser.

The Coliminder has proven itself to be effective in detecting microbial contamination in various water sources. The application where it is utilised most is in WWTP's but with companies, water utilities and municipalities all over the world has installed it at drinking water plants and surface water monitoring sites. Please see the following link of published paper where the effectiveness of on-line surface monitoring is discussed -

<https://www.sciencedirect.com/science/article/abs/pii/S0043135419300211?dgcid=author>

The big advantage of our system is the generation of data over a period of time (timeline data) that tells a story of the water system and that can be used to make informative decisions, either from a process point of view or from a contamination detection point of view. Our system can provide results in as little as 15 minutes.

I have attached some specifications and brochures for your information.

If you have any questions, please let me know.

Thank you for your invitation to the South African National Biodiversity Institute (SANBI) to register as an Interested and Affected Party (I&AP) for the application EIMS reference number: Bw/cm1228. However, please note that SANBI only participates in applications for Environmental Authorisation as an I&AP if the application is for a development on a SANBI property or a property adjacent to a SANBI property, or if the application would impact on an area that has been highlighted as a priority implementation area within one of SANBI's Bioregional Programmes.

SANBI thus kindly declines to participate in this application as an I&AP at this point in time.

SANBI is a public entity mandated to act in an advisory or consultative capacity on matters relating to biodiversity to the Department of Environmental Affairs (i.e. the 'competent authority'). The Department and its provincial counterparts are welcome to engage SANBI for advice and/or comment on specific matters related to biodiversity information relevant to this application, if such input is required. Such advice or comment is not equivalent, however, to the comment required as per the NEMA regulations from commenting authorities. SANBI restricts its comment to the accuracy and relevance of the biodiversity information that should inform the Environmental Assessment.

SANBI thus also declines to participate as a commenting authority in this application. For comment on the biodiversity impacts of the development, please consult the relevant provincial conservation agency.

I also encourage you to visit our web portal <http://biodiversityadvisor.sanbi.org> for free access to spatial biodiversity information relevant for land-use planning and decision-making processes.

Referencing the spatial biodiversity resources found on the Biodiversity Advisor in the early stages of project development can support informed planning and decision-making while helping to timeously 'iron out' obstacles that might otherwise result in delays and additional costs to the project proponent.

Such a proactive approach can:

South African National Biodiversity Institute
Private Bag X101, Pretoria, 0001, RSA
2 Cussonia Avenue, Brummeria, Pretoria
Tel (012) 843-5000 • Fax (012) 804-3211 • www.sanbi.org

- Show the decision-making authority that potential conflict between biodiversity priorities and other land-uses has been identified and resolved by well-informed project planning;
- Allow the proponent to take an informed decision about the biodiversity (and administrative and, by implication, financial) risks of proceeding with a particular project; and
- Identify the scope, type and intensity of environmental assessment that is likely to be required if an application were to proceed.

This approach also supports best practice in environmental assessment and planning by:

- Ensuring that a project is consistent with the 'Duty of Care' principle (i.e. that the project proponent has taken reasonable measures to prevent significant degradation of the environment);
- Emphasising the fundamental role of alternatives in selecting the best practicable environmental option;
- Giving effect to the mitigation hierarchy, i.e. the sequential avoidance, minimising, mitigating and remedying of impacts that may result in loss of biodiversity or disturbance to ecosystems; and
- Supporting the principle that environmental management must pay specific attention to planning procedures pertaining to sensitive, vulnerable, highly dynamic or stressed ecosystems.

Please feel free to contact me should you require any assistance or have any queries re: using the resources on our <http://biodiversityadvisor.sanbi.org> web portal.
